WHY THIS MATTERS

	Built mobile-first with accessibility across all screens	Mobile app dependent with limited functionality	Employees can reliably purchase and approve from any device, anywhere without having to download an app
	Built-in Artificial Intelligence (AI) comes pre-integrated with platform	Limited AI use cases implemented	Vroozi Labs is out-innovating competitors in a significant way by delivering intelligence and analytics capabilities that reduce processing costs up to 40% through automation and touchless processing
	One platform developed 100% in-house	Platform assembled and pieced together over time by acquisitions	All components are built cohesively and designed to work together seamlessly, resulting in a smoother user experience, reduced technical complexities, enhanced overall efficiency, security, flexibility, and simplified support
	Integrated catalog marketplace with electronic supplier connections	Rigid supplier content standards and limited content grouping	Flexible catalog field schema shows the right content to the right employees to drive sustainability, ESG, and spend under management objectives; connect with suppliers electronically across all documents
	Predictive analytics and reporting	Limited out-of-the-box reporting requires additional data cleansing and normalization	Create your own spend and financial reports; visualize supply chain outcomes based on spending patterns and events
	In-house implementation team delivers professional services	External 3rd party consulting firms manage implementation at high price tags	Vroozi resources understand your unique organizational pain points, business goals and internal processes
	Continuous and rapid innovation	Limited platform releases and improvements	Frequent platform releases provide new features and capabilities with zero downtime
	Simplified, modern and intuitive user interface drives high user adoption rates	Clunky, outdated and complex platform navigation leads to rogue spending	Maintain cost control, enhance visibility and transparency, manage suppliers effectively, ensure compliance, streamline processes, and leverage data for informed decision-making. These factors collectively contribute to improved financial management, risk mitigation, and operational efficiency.
	Advanced support and co-innovation	Basic support	Dedicated customer success manager and direct access to product and support teams; customer advisory board seats to co-innovate to advance platform capabilities
